

HCR land group move close to home

It must be serendipity that, as one of the UK's largest relocation management companies, who talk to organisations relocating across the entire globe, we came across someone actually looking to move to a location within a mile of our head office.

We made contact with Trinity Aerospace while promoting one of our new services, the provision of flexible accommodation with tenancies from as short as a week. The Managing Director of Trinity Aerospace called us to enquire about flexible accommodation availability in Basingstoke. Once we had settled him into his apartment, he then informed us that his company were looking to make a group move to Basingstoke from Southend, following the award of a major contract.

We visited their Southend office to speak to the individuals affected by the move and to explore how we could help assuage their individual concerns and meet their particular requirements.

As a result, we ensured the smooth move of the employees to the Basingstoke area, with our dedicated Move Advisers providing professional advice and support across a whole range of issues, from property searches to Adult Education classes. By removing much of the inherent stress and time-consuming house hunting, we assisted in enabling everyone to settle in quickly and on time so as to be able to concentrate on their jobs and that new contract.

"I do appreciate your personal efforts and those of your staff in assisting us with this important move. Please pass on my personal thanks to one and all."

Malcolm McIntosh, Managing Director, Trinity Aerospace